

Intuitive Message Collection: The Process

As I create my jewelry, emotions, feelings and little narratives are evoked within me. They are feelings of splendor, love, confidence, surrender, strength and everything in between. Out of the creations that have called to me the loudest, I have brought together a selection of the pieces that have become The Intuitive Message Collection.

Using oracle cards, tarot, meditation and the emotions that were evoked, I have created my own process of intuitively receiving messages that go along with each piece of jewelry in this collection.

Through my intuition I choose which deck I feel will complement the intention of the piece. Using Meditation, I sit with each piece and the cards and feel the emotions that come with them. The cards that come to me deliver divine and intuitive reminders of self-love, grounding, creativity and so much more.

My hope is that this collection, along with all of my jewelry, helps lift up the person wearing it to see just how beautiful and how much of a light they are in this world, which we need now more than ever. Our bodies house our souls and we should adorn it and decorate it to let our inner being shine!

All the love and light,
